Fall 2014 Newsletter

Thank You

Angie is helped by so many in her efforts to save dogs and cats. Besides those of you who donate money and food, there are many who assist with adoption events, finding rescue organizations that can help, planning fund raisers, fostering, adopting and even praying. Thank you to all who help and thanks to the wonderful medical personnel that come to the aid of Angie's rescues.

Adoptions

Boomer who is now named King found his new family at the April event at the Truck Yard. He is very happy and being thoroughly spoiled. Nips found her new home with a family with daughters who, of course, fell in love with Nips at their first meeting. Her new name is Lola.

Scooter and Molly

Scooter went for a home visit in April and was adopted by a very nice lady. His new playmate is Molly. Peanut, Oscar, and Riley have found forever homes. Natasha and Daisy were accepted at Operation Kindness and they were both adopted in June.

Birdie

Sierra

Birdie and Sierra were accepted by Operation Kindness last month. They are still available for adoption if you are interested. Both are wonderful sweet girls. Birdie had been with Angie for 4 years and Sierra was a recent owner surrender that Angie had fed for a long time.

Sweet, handsome 3-legged Brody was adopted recently. He lives with a young boy and girl their mom and grandmother. Terrier mix Spike has been adopted and so has Barry White.

Updates (We love updates on adopted babies)

You may remember Blade from last fall's newsletter. His mom sent the following, "Pacino (aka 'Pash' or 'Pish Pash') was previously known as Blade, who many may remember due to the large, distinctive scar on his back given to him before he made his way to Angie's rescue. He came home with us at around 6 months old, and we were a little concerned about introducing him to our already-established female pit rescue. Luckily, with some help from Dan at Dog's Mind Training, they've grown to love each other like siblings and we often catch them snuggling when they think no one is looking. Pash has since grown from 20 lbs to about 80 lbs, but doesn't know it, and has officially earned his title as resident snuggle pup/drool master. Favorite activities include lazily galloping around the yard while barking at the world in general, laying on his back on the cool wood floors, and belly rubs all day, everyday."

Muffin "lived" at a house that also had a bunch of German shepherds. She was not allowed in the yard and slept in an abandoned car on the street. The neighbors fed her some, but she was very malnourished. Animal control was called regarding the condition of the shepherds and the neighbors took Muffin and gave her to Angie in order to get her out of the bad situation. She was with Angie about 10 days and then went to Operation Kindness. She was adopted in August and her name is now Nicki. She has a best friend, a shih tzu named Rocky. Her coat is coming in and she is slowly getting to a healthy weight. She is cuddled all of the time, especially by the 6 year old son who loves to have her lay in his bed while he reads. New mom Lana says, "Thank you for saving her!"

Field Report

One of the dogs that Angie has fed for years, Maxwell, began coughing and having difficulty breathing in early April. Angie got him to the vet and got medication for him. He tested positive for heartworms. Four days after the trip to the vet Angie found him dead. His owner didn't even realize the poor fellow had died. Joey and Angie had to crawl under a trailer to retrieve the sweet German shepherd's body.

Sydney is a beautiful girl whose owner would not allow Angie to take her to be spayed. She had her third litter of pups in June and the owner agreed that Angie could have Sydney spayed finally if Angie would leave one of the pups with him. She hates doing this, but at least Sydney will have no more babies and she also has one of her kids for company.

Tyson

Angie had an appointment to take Titus in to have a growth on his elbow drained, but he is a really big boy and she could not get him to jump up in her car. She could not lift him so she will reschedule when she has some help.

If you follow Angies Friends Dallas on Facebook you may have seen a story about Tyson. He either got loose from his yard or was taken. He was missing for a day or so and then when he returned he would not come out from under the house for Angie. The owners were able to keep him from going back under the house one time when he came out to eat and they found serious wounds on his neck. He had to have surgery but is now healing and doing well. We will probably never know what happened.

Angie feeds six pit bulls at one house and was informed on 9-4 that the people were being evicted. Angie got the owner to surrender two of the dogs, Jack and Baby. They will be available for adoption. One day when Angie was on her rounds she came back to her car and found the cutest little baby waiting in the car for her. Someone must have known that Angie would find the baby a good home. Her name is Tessa and she was adopted on 9-9-14.

Angie found two adorable pups that appear to be brother and sister one day recently near where she feeds some cats. She was able to get them in her car and contacted Duck Team 6 to see if they could help. DT6 was able to take them. They are two of the sweetest well-behaved puppies I have ever seen. If you want to adopt, you can contact Duck Team 6.

What's Going on at Angie's House?

On the afternoon of May 14th a tree in the neighbor's yard fell into Angie's yard. Sadly, Andy was caught under the tree and did not survive. Tyler was injured but recovered. It took several days to get the tree chopped up and cleared away. The only nice thing to come of this is that Angie's landlord had a new deck built for her. It is much nicer than the previous one and all of the doggies seem to enjoy it very much.

Angie lost a dog she'd had for a while to old age. Charlie had been found on the streets with a very bad wound. She nursed him back to health but he was never offered for adoption because of his age.

Medical bills have been very high. Some of you may have contributed to a special fund established for Tyson. Spike had to have an eye removed as the result of being attacked by another dog. Gigi has had eye problems and there are others who have needed medical attention. We have a new rescue named Portia that will have to have an echocardiogram to determine how severe her heart murmur is. Angie and the babies will appreciate any donation you can make. If you want your money to go a little farther you may want to donate through the North Texas Giving Day event on September 18, 2014. A flyer is attached.
